Youngistaan goes to aid of handloom weavers

HANS NEWS SERVICE

Hyderabad: With the COVID-19 pandemic looming large and disrupting lives of many, Youngistaan Foundation, a voluntary organisation, is reaching out to the vulnerable families from various communities who are majorly hit during these uncertain times.

The foundation has provided kits consisting of essential commodities and materials to 200 handloom weavers of Telangana. Each kit helps a family of four for 10 days (3 meals each day), that can feed 24,000 meals overall.

For last few days, there was a devastating loss in the handloom industry due to lack of Arun Daniel Yellamaty, founder of the organisation, said the organization also distributed nutrition kits to 13,603 families, 1,45,280 cooked meals, supplied essentials to old age homes by assisting the Telangana State Police, GHMC and other civil society organisations. It created a remarkable platform for youngsters to step up and help the community. RUPAM JAIN CATCHES UP WITH FOUR GROUPS IN TELANGANA THAT REACHED OUT TO COMMUNITIES AROUND THEM IN NEED DURING THIS LOCKDOWN - TO FIND OUT HOW THEY MANAGED TO DO WHAT THEY DID...

THEY SAY it is in the most difficult of situations that you realize who really is going to be there for you. And sometimes, they can be strangers. Absolute strangers.

While most of us stayed locked in our homes during the lockdown, and rightly so, there were some who believed there was a greater purpose to fulfill. Of humanity. Arun Daniel Yellamaty didn't stop for a moment to think about his own safety. He got his volunteers and set out to help all those in dire need. His NGO, Youngistaan Foundation started COVID-19 Relief Support, working together with the Telangana State Police, the State COVID Control Room, the Cyberabad Police, the Revenue Department, the GHMC (Greater Hyderabad Municipal Corporation) and a few more NGOs. From providing nutrition and hygiene kits and cooked meals, to helping senior citizens with groceries and medical assistance... to also taking care of community animals - they did it all.

"I had 1,500 registrations during the lockdown. Can you believe it!" exclaims Arun, who utilized the manpower by dividing volunteers into batches - on ground volunteers who collected and distributed kits; backstage volunteers, who did all the packing working over night; and volunteers who were sent to various governmental bodies to
